The drama by Frederick Jackson is a light comedy which centers around the character of the Bishop who loves wickedness of the type that he has always found in detective stories. Many merry complications arise when he finds himself in the midst of a gang of thieves and is forced to play the role of an amateur detective.

"The Bishop Misbehaves" is the last long production at the Playhouse for this year, and forms a sort of preview of the Junior Week festivities of the next week.

Freshman Outing Will Be Held on Chapman

Scheduled for next Sunday afternoon is a picnic supper and general outing on Chapman hill for all members of the class of '43, according to Edward T. Peach, president of the freshman class. The outing will start promptly at 6:15 from the Gym, and old clothes are to be the vogue for the evening.

Besides plenty of victuals being especially prepared by the freshman dining halls, there are going to be, in the way of entertainment, several softball matches. One planned at the present time is between all the blondes and all the brunettes (Redheads will have to take their pick). Plenty of singing is expected before the night is over.

In charge of general activities are Wallace Bruce George, James P. Brown, June M. Archibald, and Mary B. Ramsay; publicity, Ernest D. Frawley, William R. Engesser; program, M. Scott Eakeley, C. Taylor Smith, George W. Sullivan; food, Aldom H. Scott, Albert W. Jefts, and Marion E. Young.

Carolyn C. Stanwood '43 will be in charge of guests and invitations.

Junior Week Schedule Completed As Mal Hallett Works Way North

The final schedule for Junior Week has been released for publication, and represents several changes from the Junior Week of last year.

Although this year's activities have been abbreviated to two days, nothing vital to the complete enjoyment of participants has been omitted. Only the tea dance, held at the Inn last year, and the variety show, will be left out.

The affair will start out with the proverbial bang when Mal Hallett and his orchestra begin playing for the Junior Prom. This is the initial "Event" on the program. May 17 is the date set for the prom, with dancing being held from nine until two in the gym.

There being nothing much to do after two the next morning but go home and sleep, activities will be halted, temporarily, until 10 A. M. on May 18, when fraternity breakfasts will be held.

At eleven A. M., the rope-pull and steeplechase events will be run off, featuring hot competition between the freshman and sophomore classes. And at 3 P. M. the same day will be contested a ball game between Norwich and Middlebury.

In the evening (still the same day), at 8 P. M., the fraternity informal dances will be held. Always an important event on the Junior Week schedule of events, the fraternity informals will not be eliminated this year as incorrectly reported in a previous issue of the CAMPUS.

On Sunday May 19, the final day of the shortened Junior Week, the stepsinging contest will be held. The scene of the vocal encounters will be held on the steps of Mead Memorial Chapel, as usual.

Mal Hallett is all set to entertain the Junior Prom dancers. At the present, he is playing one-nighters, having completed his engagement at the Roseland ballroom in New York City.

Hallett will wind up his present tour in this vicinity by playing at several New England colleges, ending up at Bowdoin college on May 16.

Charles Shribman, drum-beater and ten-percenter for the Hallett band, reports that Hallett recently played against Gene Krupa in a "battle of music," and that "all of the newspapers really claimed that Hallett outplayed the Krupa band."

Fraternities Agree To Hold Elections Without Combines

In an effort to abolish fraternity politics in the elections next Tuesday, Patrick T. Vartuli '40, retiring president of the Interfraternty council, last night received from a representative of each fraternity a promise to keep his fraternity out of any combines such as have arisen during the past.

At this same meeting, elections of officers for the coming year was held. John M. Nugent '41 was elected to head the council, taking the place of Vartuli. David W. Emmons '42 was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Nugent.

In his last act as president of the Interfraternity council, Vartuli spoke briefly on fraternity politics as they have been in the past, then asked for the promise of each fraternity to stay out of any political combines. Acting on this, a representative of each fraternity rose and pledged his house to stay out of any combines during the elections to be held next Tuesday. There was no discussion on this move.

In closing the meeting, the newly-elected president announced that there would be one more meeting of the Interfraternity council before the close of school, the date of which has not yet been determined.

Changes In Next Year's Faculty Are Announced

Faculty changes for the 1940-'41 college year were announced by the Office of the President last week. Although still tentative and not entirely complete, the changes will mean four new professors at Middlebury to take the places of five faculty members who will be away on official leave.

The regular sabbatical leave period, a year every eight years, will release Professors Hathaway and Sholes from their teaching duties on the college faculty. Professor Neuse will be away for the first semester on a Language School sabbatical leave. Mr. Justin V. Emerson has resigned from the college faculty to study at Yale university, while Professor Schmidt will leave for the second semester to take advantage of his half year sabbatical leave.

Midd Graduates on Faculty

New members to the faculty include two Middlebury graduates Charles A. Hickcox '34 and Samuel Guarnaccia '30, Mr. Laurence Barrett from Amherst college in 1937, and Dr. Kurt Neuse, brother of Werner Neuse, the associate professor of German. Professor Robert Davis will also be back after an extended trip through Europe.

Charles A. Hickcox '34 will return to Middlebury to take the place of Professor Schmidt as instructor of Geology. Mr. Hickcox will enter the first semester as a graduate fellow in the geology department. During the second semester, while Professor Schmidt is away, he will take over the course until June.

Samuel Guarnaccia '30 is to return to Middlebury to teach as instructor of Italian and Spanish. This appointment is not a replacement but is created to fill the place left by the death of Dr. William S. Burrage, professor of Greek language and literature. Mr. Guarnarria is well known to the summer school here where he has come every summer since 1931 to study Italian and Spanish. Besides his position as language instructor he will take up the pigskin again as coach of freshman football.

Barrett To Teach English

Mr. Barrett will fill the place of Mr. Emerson as instructor of English literature. After he had graduated from Amherst college, Mr. Barrett went to Harvard Summer school to study English and then to Kimball Union academy to teach for a year.

Dr. Kurt Neuse is well known at Middlebury where he has come before to take the place of his brother as associate professor of German. No appointment has yet been made to fill the place left by Professor Sholes.

Men's Elections To Be Held Tuesday, May 14

R. POST '40 PLANS INAUGURATION FOR UNDERGRAD HEAD

A regular meeting of the Mens' Assembly was held in Warner hemicycle last Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Plans for the inauguration of the president of the undergraduate association were competed. A committee, headed by Robert D. Post '40, has been working on a definite ceremony of inauguration for several weeks.

Coming within the province of the standing committee on customs and traditions, the plans for a proper oath of office for newly elected members of the Assembly were discussed. It is expected that all representatives elected next fall will be sworn into office under a prescribed oath.

Edward J. Drew '40 suggested the possibility of instituting an honor system at Middlebury. It was pointed out that the honor system is successfully used at such colleges as Haverford and Wesleyan. A committee, consisting of Paul S. Eriksson '40, Adam W. Tupka '40, Edward J. Drew '40 and Edward T. Peach '43, was appointed to consider the suggestion.

A resolution on the undesireability of cutting campus was also passed by the Assembly.

New Dormitory To Open This Fall

Two Older Dorms as Well As Gifford Are to House Men's College Next Year

This year's building program which will erect two new buildings on campus is well under way. Munroe's foundation is almost dug and Gifford's room plans are posted on Old Chapel bulletin board, ready for students to select their rooms.

Hepburn, Painter, and Gifford are the only college dormitories for men which will be used next year, barring acts of God to the latter. If some unforeseen accident happens to interfere with the completion of Gifford, men will be lodged in Starr and Weybridge until the new hall is finished.

When finished, Gifford will be in general like Hepburn. The space in back will be used as a freshman commons but will have a larger capacity than the present Hepburn commons. The fate of the latter has not been decided yet, but it may be used as a coffee shop or cafe.

Gifford will contain a few two-room suites and a number of rooms which can either be used as singles or combined to form suites. Rooms are available on all five floors.

Active construction work on Munroe has started since the advent of spring. Excavation with tractor plow and steam shovel has been going on for several days and now the building should be completed by the middle of January, 1941. It will face south and be about the same size as the Chemistry building.

JUNIOR GIRLS WILL GIVE FACULTY TEA

Faculty members of the college will be entertained by the Junior women at tea tomorrow, from four until six o'clock in Pearson's living room.

Each woman will invite two faculty guests or outsiders and tea and sandwiches will be served as refreshments. Mrs. Paul D. Moody and Mrs. William S. Burrage will pour. Elizabeth F. Wolfington '41 is chairman of the tea and Jean L. Connor '41 is in charge of the refreshments.

The purpose of the tea is to increase personal contact between the college women and the faculty. This is the main social event of the year sponsored by the women's Social committee and also corresponds to the buffet supper held by the sophomores recently.

Eight Men Are Nominated For Undergraduate Presidency

CLASS ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ALSO

Balloting by the men's college for the election of the Student Government president and the officers of the three classes will be held in Mead chapel between 6:30 and 8:00 p. m. on Tuesday.

Eight men from the class of 1941 have been nominated by the fraternities to fill the position of president, now being held by George F. Lewin '40. These men are: Dan B. Armstrong, Thomas H. Bennett, Samuel J. Bertuzzi, William Ferguson III, Norman E. Hatfield, John H. Hicks, John C. Johnson and John M. Nugent.

Men's College Votes

This morning the men's college voted and approved the amendment separating the inauguration ceremony of the new President from its former place in the moving-up day exercises.

At the suggestion of President Lewin, this ceremony will become a part of the Junior Week exercises, and will be held this year on May 16.

This amendment to the Men's Student Government constitution was passed at a recent Assembly meeting, and received the unofficial approval of the Student Life committee.

A recent vote by the Men's Assembly approved the plan of President Lewin to allow the president's council to again handle the operation of the election on Tuesday. While the constitution of the Men's Student Government stipulates that these elections will be handled by the assembly, it was thought that this year, with the assembly unaccustomed to this work, that more satisfactory results would be obtained by allowing the persident's council to again handle this.

Nominees for Class of '41

Candidates for the class officers in the present sophomore class are; David Black Jr., Wesley Y. Clement, John Corbin, Kenneth E. Cosgrove, David W. Emmons, Edward J. Gignac, Stanwood F. Johnson, Willard M. Mayo, John S. Prukop, Augustin A. Root, Howard A. Schlieder Jr., Aaron L. Shannon, David K. Smith, Franklin R. Swenson, A. Wilson Wood, and Edward H. Yeomans.

Bennington Dance Group To Give Recital May 15

A group of modern dancers from Bennington college will present an original program in Middlebury in the near future. The recital will be given in McCullough gymnasium with May 15 as the tentative date.

Under the sponsorship of the A Tempo club, the dancers will give their performance at 7:30 p. m. Admission for students will be twenty-five cents, and fifty cents for faculty, as well as non-college guests.

The composing and presenting of these original dances are directly under the supervision of the Bennington college students. Middlebury has experimented along the same lines with its gym class in dancing and with the formation of a modern dance group.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS

Next Tuesday the Men's college will vote for the first time for the President of the Men's Student government.

If this new form of government is to grow and to continue to be more worthwhile for the college as well as the undergraduate body, the entire Men's college should go to the polls on Tuesday and vote for the candidate best fitted for the position, regardless of fraternity affiliations.

Under our new system, the position of president carries with it certain responsibilities and duties not previously given to the Undergrad President. This, plus the increasing importance and power of the Men's Student government, ma' es this election of increasing importance. It should be removed from the petty policies that have surrounded it in the past.

A move towards this divorcement of combines and fraternity "deals" from the election was made last night at the Interfraternity council meeting when Patrick T. Vartuli, in his final act as President of the Interfraternity council, asked each fraternity representative to pledge, for his fraternity, that it would not enter in any "deals" in the coming election. The president or a representative of each fraternity quickly promised to do this.

This move is sound in that it did not try to establish any useless rule concerning these fraternity combines, but rather left it up to the honor of each fraternity. Such a system places the responsibility where it belongs, on the heads of the houses, who, if any "deals" were to be made, would make them. The value of this will be shown on Tuesday.

On May 16, the inauguration of the new President of the Men's Student government will be held in chapel, and George F. Lewin will retire as the first president under the new system.

Elected Undergrad President last spring, Lewin was immediately faced with the extremely difficult task of putting the new constitution into operation.

Certain points stand out in Lewin's administration that show his untiring work for the Undergraduate body. First, that it was he who supervised the Assembly in its period of formation, and has aided it throughout the year. Certain other events stand out, some less official, but still important, such as the marshalling of the Middmen in suppressing the U. V. M. raid last fall.

Throughout the year, Lewin has shown himself to be a leader, and certainly has proven his ability, by his work in the new Government.

AN ADDITION

During the past week, the question has arisen concerning what could be done if a person were refused permission to play athletics or enter into extra-curricular activities under the new rulings. An explanation of this was not given in the eligibility rules story printed in the CAMPUS last week, mainly because this rule remains as it has been in the past, concerning decisions of this type handed down by the Dean.

As in the past, any person who has been prohibited from entering into athletics or extra-curricular activities and feels that he should be allowed to participate may appeal his case to a faculty committee.

Student's Bad Manners In Chapel Commented on By Professor G. Allen

To the Editor of the CAMPUS:

May I assume the role of a carping fault-finder for a moment and express through the columns of the CAMPUS my reactions after attending the Sunday Vespers service today.

I could hardly help being aware of what seemed to be just bad manners on the part of several pairs of students, upstairs and down, among men and women, who carried on whispering conversations from the start to the finish of the sermon.

It seemed rude and inconsiderate for two main reasons: first, because those in the immediate vicinity of the conversationalists were inevitably distracted and disturbed—I for one, since the whispering of two freshman women was all too audible where I was sitting.

Second, because it must have been disconcerting for the guest speaker. Out of respect and courtesy for him, if for no other reason, I think every student might reasonably be expected to pay attention. And if there are some who are constitutionally incapable of appreciating such a discourse, let them at least remain quiet in their coma.

GEO. W. ALLEN

P. S. Dr. Luccock's sermon, ironically enough, was an appeal to peanut-headed people to travel beyond their trifling gossip to wider intellectual and spiritual horizons.

Walter D. Knight Urges Active Interest in Work Of Musical Organization

To the Editor of the CAMPUS:

Middlebury is a college which has a wealth of opportunity and material for many extra-curricular activities one of which is the Glee Club. Much discussion is given from time to time to the amount of interest and support which is forthcoming from the student body especially in connection with these activities.

The Glee Club is an organization, which in the past few years has quite adequately proven that it is an important factor in establishing and maintaining the reputation of the college in the territory in which it operates, which in the case of radio broadcasts approaches a nation-wide nature. It seems many times, however, as though the Glee Club were too good an example of the proverbial "prophet without honor. . . "

DISC - CHORDS

By Ernie Frawley

VICTOR—A few years ago Gloomy Sunday came out of Hungary. Today Artie Shaw makes the best recording of it ever issued. Employing to full advantage all of the capabilities possessed by the new orchestra, one can imagine why suicide is reported to have been committed upon hearing such a melancholy number. Sunday produces a haunting effect which is possible to create a desire to end all. Even in Midd one co-ed is known who doesn't dare to listen to the lyrics in entirety. Don't Fall Asleep opens with a soaring Shaw clarinet which blends nicely into Pauline Byrne's excellent vocal. For the first time we see Shaw interpreting a popular number and a noble job he does in combining a definite swing punch with a change of pace which leads to perfection. Instrumentally, both sides are definite that this new style is here to stay.Conga Brava by Duke Ellington is off-edge although some sax work by Hardwick is worthwhile. Ko-Ko is more in the famous syncopated Ellington style with the boys blending together in a torrid heat wave. The brasses are well rehearsed, especially notable is the muted trumpet of Rex Stewart.

VARSITY—The most original work in instrumentation today is being done by Rex Irving. Supplementing his now famous Gossip is Babushka Hop and Overture Begins at Forte. The latter displays a clever change between overture style and unusual swing. Excellent bits are contributed by Henry Ross on tenor sax and Sid Peltyu on trumpet. This outfit should go places within the next year. Lou Breese tops Jimmy Dorsey's recording of Swampfire of a few weeks back. Breese gets the feel of this number as few bands really do. Fine trumpet and tom-tom breaks are outstanding along with an intelligent increase and decrease of tempo which Swampfire needs and seldom has.

DECCA—Sorry to say, Bing Crosby overdoes I Dream of Jeannie—something which rarely happens with Bing. Foster's most beautiful song needs and should have only the best renditions—No Name Jive on two sides by Glen Gray shows the versatility of this outfit in changing from sweet to solid swing. Well balanced sax and brass sections contribute to this rocking success by the America's top dance band.—Louis Armstrong's Wolverine Blues and Swing That Music packs plenty of the solid jazz which has made the leader famous. Highlighted is the amazing trumpet of Armstrong.

BLUEBIRD—Strictly ragtime is Muggsy Spanier's version of Dinah and Black Blue. These bits are in old style seldom heard these days. In the midst of a terrific hot chorus comes an amazing transition into a slow piano and Spanier a cornet duet which introduces George Brunies' vocal. Even better is Black and Blue in the blues idiom. Note the background of Spanier's cornet solos—something seldom done correctly. Joe Bushkin's tenor sax crowns this pleasant set back into the twenties—Especially popular among a large section of Middites is Earl Hines and his piano. Number 19 is about the most solid bit of his recent recordings, but far superior is his Boogie Woogie on St. Louis Blues. Here "the Father" shows his versatility to perfection on the ivories backed by a rocking brass section—For the fans who never seem to tire of his ever sweet style on recordings, (In the Mood excepted) Glenn Miller has waxed Violetta—Starlight and Music and I'll Never Smile Again—The Rhumba Jumps. Ray Eberle provides the heart throbs on the first three. Rhumba with Marion Hutton and Tex Beneke shows, to some extent, the usually hidden swing ability of the band. Stay more in the groove Miller and let Lombardo murder the sweet tunes—Two numbers known to all Benny Goodman fans have been released once more. They are Remember and Blue Skies with the B. G. clarinet bringing back the days of '36 when Goodman was king and swing was swing and not the mongrel it is today.

COLUMBIA—Still we have Benny Goodman. This time its Down by the Old Mill Stream and Yours is My Heart Alone. Stream is far and away tops with solid background supporting B. G.'s clarinet which is in the best of form—Jack Teagarden takes Red Wing for the fastest ride of her life with his unsurpassed trombone and exceptional orchestra clicking as they haven't for months. Dave Tough on drums and Ernie Caiceres on sax take top honors—Krupa depicts a fading land mark familiar to many in Manhattan Transfer. This record keeps up the good work he's been doing recently. For the most improved band of the past season we nominate without exception, Krupa. Starting with Symphony in Riffs, no one can touch his late recordings.

A TEMPO MEETING IS HELD AT K. K. G. HOUSE ON SUNDAY

Using the theme, "Rhapsody in Supper," the A Tempo club had a meeting for the new members at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house last Sunday night after chapel.

Lois M. Dale '41 opened the program playing Brahm's "Lullaby" and also his "German Folk Song" on a wooden block flute. The members then played Haydn's "Toy Symphony" and his "Rhythmic Country Dance" using toy instruments.

These selections were then followed by a group of new songs which were sung by the club. The first ones were College Songs of Storrs Lee by Prof. J. P. Davison, which will appear in the College Song book, to be for sale next September. "Oh, Aaron Petty," to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw," by Prof. Robert Davis, and "Ode to Prexy," to the tune of "Solomon Levi," by Storrs Lee were the two other songs. "Ode to Prexy" is a history of the Middlebury college presidents since 1800.

The business part of the meeting consisted of the reading of the Constitution and a discussion of the Bennington Dance group.

History Of Middlebury Publication Traced From 'Way Back When

By Dwight F. Smith '42

Printer's ink has always been in the veins of Vermonters. From the time that the Stephen Daye press, the oldest in America, turned out the first copy of The Green Mountain Boy Post, to the present, when a state with a population scarcely larger than the city of Springfield, Mass. supports eleven dailies and some sixty odd weekly publications, Vermont has been a good field for the fourth estate.

If the state as a whole can claim the oldest press in the country, Middlebury college may claim one of the first attempts at college publications. It's a fact that except for the slight matter of continuous existence the Middlebury CAMPUS might have been one of the oldest college papers in the country. But the boys from Hanover have us beaten. The Daily Dartmouth has been coming out from time immemorial. It wouldn't be surprising to hear them claim that the voice of Daniel Webster first found expression in its columns or that their wandering Ledyard died with a fresh copy in his hand. Here we may only say that the continuous existence of the Daily Dartmouth would also apply to their symbol of heritage—both Eleazar Wheelock's keg of rum and the college paper have continued in spirit to this very day.

Volume 1, Number 1

Middlebury's first student publication went off with a bang. Vol. 1, No. 1 includes an item of news to the effect that "upon receipt of the news of the election of Gov. Crafts a cannon was brought out for the purpose of firing a salute." Net result—two killed and two wounded. But this Undergraduate was no idle gossip sheet. For five straight issues they ran a little continued job—The Origin of the Homeric Views. Weekly chatter was confined to a complete list of the births and deaths in Addison county and a summary of the European situation. For, like the college man of today, they had a European situation to reckon with, too. This dismissal of the Duke of Wellington and a summary of the strength of the Holy Alliance meant quite as much to them as any fresh aggression does now.

Short Career

Enthusiasm for the new paper must have run pretty high for after the third isssue the editors were compelled to run a notice that "a long and elaborate essay completely filling up the paper might be a rich treat to some few individuals but variety alone can excite general interest." After two years the paper graduated with its founders. But it had served its purpose well. For now every edition of the CAMPUS can proudly indicate its glorious heritage in the masthead where one may read with awe, "formerly the Undergraduate, established in 1830."

It was a very different Undergraduate that the Middlebury students re-established in 1876. They had a lot of new things to write about and apparently a pretty fertile field for editorial criticism. With the advent of college football on the eighties, a Middlebury columnist noted the fact that of the 1112

ENGLISH CLUB TO HAVE DR. STANLEY WILLIAMS AS SPEAKER THURSDAY

At their meeting tomorrow evening the English Club will be entertained by an address by Dr. Stanley T. Williams on the topic, "Emerson and the Concord Group."

Dr. Williams is a well known figure to Middlebury groups, having taught and lectured at the Bread Loaf School for English during the summer session since its founding under the direction of Mr. Collins.

Holds Position at Yale

At present he is teaching at Yale university, having held a position in the American Literature Department for approximately two decades. His writings on this subject are well known, and his interest in his work makes his talks interesting to his audiences.

Proof of this is the fact that this will be the second engagement of Dr. Williams to an English Club meeting, having appeared last year. At that time his lecture concerned the American humorist, Mark Twain.

His topic this year affords Dr. Williams an excellent chance to display his knowledge of the subject. Another interesting point to those who attend will be comparison of Dr. Williams' lecture, and Middlebury's own Professor Cook's book on Thoreau which is soon to be published. Both will probably contain, for a large part, information concerning the Concord territory and its connection with American Literature.

The meeting will be held in the Abernethy Room of Starr Library at eight o'clock, Thursday evening. Members of the student body, and particularly those of the English Club are invited to attend.

Club Holds Elections

The new officers for the year 1940-'41 are: president, Malcolm Freiberg '41; vice president, Elizabeth F. Wolfington '41; secretary-treasurer, Patricia L. Kane '42.

The new members who were voted into the club are; Constance E. Girard, Patricia A. MacDonald, Elsa C. Norgaard, Ruth H. Packard, and Margaret A. Waller, all of the class of '41. The members of the sophomore class who were elected are: Roger S. Arnold, Adelaide E. Barrett, Mary E. Clough, Viola M. Guthrie, William L. Hennefrund, John E. Holt, Patricia L. Kane, Charles L. Sanford, Dwight F. Smith, and Peter J. Stanlis.

Hasbrouck '41 Chosen Spanish Club President

Officers of the Spanish club for the coming year were elected at a meeting held last Wednesday night in Forest recreation hall.

Howard L. Hasbrouck '41 was chosen president, and Barbara York '42 will serve as secretary-treasurer. These officers replace Mary E. Donati '40, president and Jessie W. Matthew '41, secretary-treasurer for this past year.

In addition to the business meeting Miss Rose E. Martin, the faculty advisir of the group, spoke on Spanish art and showed slides to illustrate her talk. Refreshments were served and group singing was participated in by the club.

1941 Kaleidocope Out; Informality Dominant Characteristic Of Book

By Robert W. Halligan '42

Middlebury's 1941 Kaleidoscope made its debut last Saturday when copies were presented to the members of the Junior class by Editor-in-Chief Lester W. Ingalls '41.

Ingalls carried out his historical theme very well throughout the entire edition, presenting a historical account of the various buildings, devoting the preface to a kaleidoscopic view of the college's past, and introducing an interesting contrast between the old and the new on the division pages which separate the various sections of the volume.

The preface also contained the dedication, which this year was devoted to the presidents of the college, past and present; from its foundings to the present day. Middlebury is shown to be a college which affords its students a well rounded liberal education.

Features Informal Shots

One of the most interesting features of this year's Kaleidoscope was the large number of informal photographs, which took the place of the age-worn, staid, stand-up-and-face-it type which have been used in the past. This newer type of pictures excites much more reaction on the part of the students, who take great delight in finding whether or not they happen to be in such-and-such a group. It was a relief also, to find the faculty members in new, and "alive" poses instead of the former portrait style.

Reviews of Underclassmen

On the whole it seemed that the book was more compact this year, and yet the number of pages was shortened in no way. The space devoted to the various social functions such as the Junior and Senior weeks was restricted to two pages, and yet the contents were equal to those of any year. It seemed by the number of photographs, that Ingalls had succeeded in catching the eye of the reader in allowing the pictures to speak for themselves, rather than printing lengthy written articles about each topic. This type of publication is not only easier to read, but contains everything without being at all "dry" or time- worn.

New features included were attractive cuts of the dance programs for such events as the Senior Ball, the Winter Carnival Ball and the Junior Prom; the first appearance of fencing team as a group in the athletic structure of the college, and a well planned review of the year's activities of the sophomore and freshman classes.

Includes Senior Pictures

Another new step was taken by Ingalls when he included a complete photographic review of each and every senior as well as of the juniors. This was not only a very nice gesture on his part, but added much to the volume and seemed to make it complete.

On the whole it was a job well done, and Ingalls and his business manager Emerson G. Johnstone '41 deserve much credit, as do all the other members of the undergraduate body who helped in the production of the 1941 Kaleidoscope.

Playhouse Will Present "Ruggles of Red Gap"

Tuesday May 14 "Ruggles of Red Gap" will be shown at the Playhouse. There will be one evening performance beginning at 8:00 p. m. Admission will be by season ticket or by general admission of 25c.

Charles Laughton, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland are the stars of this comedy of an English valet, Charles Laughton, who comes to a small western town in America. The review, "Films", says that Laughton's stirring delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg address makes the picture worth while outside all its other merits.

Thirty-five Vermont Scholars Will Compete For Annual Scholarships

The Office of the Director of Admissions and Personnel has announced that Vermont Scholarship interviews will be held for all candidates on May 19th and 20th. About thirty-five scholars are expected to be interviewed.

This year marks an innovation from the usual schedule used in previous years, in that the men will be here at the very close of Junior Week and will be able to witness the Step Singing and possibly a few other events. It is felt that under this plan, the men will get more in touch with college life.

The committee of Selection is composed of President Moody, Mr. E. J. Wiley, Dean Patterson, and two members of the Board of Trustees.

The fraternities are again cooperating by inviting the visiting scholarship candidates to take meals at their houses and will also provide accomodations overnight. This system has worked out well in previous years in giving the visiting candidates informal glimpses of college life.

To further acquaint the prospective students with the college grounds, a campus tour has been arranged. The first visit will be to the Egbert Starr library and will be conducted by Wyman Parker, librarian. Following successively will be stops at the Athletic department, Hepburn hall, and Commons. Mead Memorial chapel, Chemistry building, Warner Science hall, Biology laboratory and Geology department.

Last year's recipients of the Vermont scholarships were Donald I. Gale, John S. Gale, Richard J. McGarry, Harry Rossi, Edward T. Peach, Frederick W. Lapham, Roger L. Easton, Earle J. Bishop, George W. Nitchie, and Robert F. Fulton.

The program starts on Sunday with supper at the fraternity houses, followed by the group attending the Junior Week step singing. After the step singing, the men will see in the movies "A Year of Undergraduate Life at Middlebury," to be given in Hepburn Social hall.

Monday morning, a psychological test will be given in Warner hemicycle, followed by a visit to the college buildings. After lunch at the fraternity houses, the men will have individual interviews with the committee of selection at the office of President Paul D. Moody. At 5:30 Monday afternoon, the candidates will meet in Old Chapel 12, where the announcement of the awards will be made.

1940-41 Social Committee Picked by Student Union

According to an announcement made recently, the members of the Social Committee of Student Union for next year will be Ruth H. Packard '41, president of Student Union, Alice Taylor '42, vice president of Student Union, and Charlotte E. Gilbert '41, treasurer of Student Union.

Also on the committee are representatives of each class. Pegram Williams, will represent the class of 1941, while Nina Camuti was selected by the class of 1942 and Patricia Rogers by the class of 1943. The president of Mortar Board who has not yet been elected, will have a position on the committee as well as a representative from the class of 1944.

Dean Eleanor S. Ross, Miss Florence C. Allen, Miss Rose E. Martin and Mrs. William S. Burrage have also been chosen to act on the committee.

W. KNIGHT, GLEE CLUB MANAGER, RELEASES PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

In a desire to present more concerts in the fall and winter and to prepare the choir members for the fall concerts, the Glee Club under the management of Walter D. Knight '41 has just begun an entirely different system for the coming year.

With the help of the new assistant manager Carlos E. Richardson '42 plans are going ahead to complete the arrangements for enlarging next year's concert schedule to include a number of local Vermont recitals early in the college year. When these plans are completed within the next few weeks the music for the concerts will be handed out to the choir members before they leave in June.

Instead of holding the Glee club tryouts late in December they will be held early in November next year. This is to allow for a period of training and concerts during the fall when it is most convenient to have them.

Plans are already under way for the Glee club trip next spring. Even though the group this year was gone for only four days, it is hoped that next year's trip will equal the one taken in 1939 with concerts in cities as far away as Washington and Cleveland. Tryouts for the choir will start today. From the group which is chosen at this time the Glee club members will be picked next fall for the proposed concerts and spring trip.

STUDIO MUSICALE AT 7:30

Students Will Present Informal Piano Selections Tonight

There will be an open house at the Music studio for faculty, students and townspeople tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

It will consist of the following informal program of piano music: Clementi's "Sonatine" played by James Scobie, Porter's "Melody in G" offered by Martha Freude and MacLowell's "Shadow Dance" and Arensky's "Impromptu" played by Helen R. Lawrence '41. These selections will be followed by Chopin's "Nocturne in B Major" by Mary Steva and "Etude" and four preludes of Scriabin's by Gloria E. Merritt '43. Mary E. Hickcox '43 will then play "Valcik" by Mokrijs, and Ruth A. Thomas '43 will play "Nocturne" by Schumann and "Polonaise" by Chopin.

A Twilight Musicale sponsored by the A Tempo club will present a concert of piano music by Professor John T. Andrews this Friday in Chapel at 5 o'clock. Professor Andrews has planned a group of four numbers which will include: "Rondo Andantino" by C. P. Bach, the first movement of a "Sonata" Opus 53 by Beethoven, "Impromptu" in A flat by Schubert, and "Etude" in F minor by Dohnanyi. This is open to the public without charge.

The next musicale will take place this Sunday. Barbara Kitson will present selections from Bach, Brahms and Debussy on the piano, while Martha E. Taylor '40 will sing selections from Schubert. This musicale will be held in Pearson's living-room at 7:30 Sunday.

On May 26, Cameron McGraw '40 will also present piano selections from Schumann, Bach, Brahms and Griffes, a modern composer.

Orchestra And Choir Present Good Concert

By Malcolm Freiberg '41

Middlebury has three things she can be proud of; Chipman hill, John Mason Brown, and a music department that can be relied on for uniform quality. The concert last Thursday night demonstrated that both Mr. Alan Carter and Prof. H. Ward Bedford are capable of good work.

On the program Thursday the first number by the college orchestra was an original composition by Cameron McGraw '40 entitled "Nocturne." It was good; the introduction was nice, and the theme, taken from a southern mountain song, was in place. This was followed by Beethoven's First symphony.

The college choir was in rare fettle after its week-end trip, and gave a bang-up performance that evening. First selection was Saar's "To Music," followed by "Vale of Tuoni" of Sibelius and Arkhangelsky's "Evening on the Sava."

Religious songs were the features of the third portion of the program. First two numbers here included Christiansen's "In Dulci Jubilo" and Lvovsky's "On This Day." Following there came two spirituals, "Mary's Baby" and "Wasn't That a Mighty Day." On the first of these, which had a solo by Jessie W. Matthew '41, the audience demanded, and got, an encore.

Final number on the evening's solidly satisfying program was Brahms' "Song of Fate." For this composition for choir and orchestra, Professor Bedford directed both groups, while Mr. Carter took over in the first violin section.

MRS. DUNBAR WILL TALK ON ASPECTS OF OBTAINING JOB

On Friday afternoon at four o'clock in Forest Recreation room, Mrs. Katherine B. Dunbar will speak on the practical aspects of applying for a job. After the lecture she will give personal interviews to any women who may be interested. These interviews should be arranged for with Marjorie N. Burditt '40.

Mrs. Dunbar is from the Katherine Gibbs secretarial school in Boston, where she is Manager of Public Relations in the Administrative Department. She is also an instructor in the subject of Business Etiquette.

Last Monday Mrs. Margaret G. Davidson, Middlebury '23, spoke in Forest Recreation room on the various aspects of social work. She reviewed the history of social service work and then gave a preview of what could be expected from that field of work in the future.

She discussed the three types of social work, case, group, and community and described the qualifications that a social worker must have. Above all, she said, the worker must have a good sense of humor and the ability to stand the hardships of the job.

Dr. H. E. Luccock of Yale Divinity School Talks On Spiritual Horizons in Sunday Chapel Service

Dr. Helford E. Luccock of the Yale university Divinity school chose Mark I: 32-39 as the text for his sermon at the vespers service last Sunday.

In discussing the horizons that one can set for himself, Dr. Luccock first cited the case of Alice James, the sister of the well known philosopher, William James, who although an invalid from her early youth never accepted this limitation in any way but its physical sense, refusing to make her life a "cantata of ailments".

Horizons Determine Success

According to Dr. Luccock, a great deal of what a person attains in life depends upon the horizon that he sets. However, in setting this horizon, one must take into consideration the made circumstances of life such as environment, opportunities, and obligations. Some people not realizing these boundaries, spend their lives hammering on doors that can never be opened.

On the other hand, some people miss their goal in life by not setting high enough horizons. When their high dreams are thrown into a world of realism, they allow them to be "chloroformed in rebellion and resentment", and accept a horizon in a plane lower than that of their capabilities.

Spiritual Meaning Important

Warning against artificial horizons, Dr. Luccock stated that merely physical horizons are dangerous, adding that there is too much in man that has no meaning without the larger horizon of spiritual distances. Without the fundamental spiritual compulsions, there is something lacking in man; for these are an inborn quality that should not be denied.

Now as in all times of stress, the question, "What is the world coming to?", is being asked. According to one interpretation, the world, lacking the framework of spiritual meaning, is collapsing like a gelatinous mass. The solution of the complex situation seems to lie in the attainment of the natural horizon of fellowship among men.

Inner Mind Seen in Worship

Dr. Luccock further discussed the point of personal horizons in observing that one should not condemn himself to a premature horizon before his natural or possible horizon has been shown.

The speaker concluded with the idea that in worship one can get a momentary glimpse of his inner mind and of the allurement of his natural boundaries.

Pres. Moody to Speak

President Paul D. Moody will deliver the vespers address before the student body next Sunday in chapel.

During the past week, President Moody has been present at various Middlebury College alumni gatherings. These were held in several central places throughout the country including Utica, Rochester, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Chicago, and Akron.

President Moody will deliver the baccalaureate address at the Massachusetts State Teachers' commencement at North Adams on June 5. He will travel to Massachusetts State college at Amherst, to give the baccalaureate address June 9. On June 10 he will deliver the baccalaureate at Alfred college at Alfred, N. Y.

Debating Prizes Won by Leggett, Gordon, Brown

J. Halford Gordon '40, Glenn H. Leggett '40, and Kyle T. Brown '42 received this year's debating awards in chapel last Thursday. They were presented by Prof. F. W. Cady in the absence of President Paul D. Moody.

These awards are of two types. The Wetherell prizes consisting of the income from a fund of $1,100 donated by admirers of the late Prof. Archibald D. Wetherell. First and second honors in this group went to Leggett and Gordon respectively. The Edwin Winship Lawrence prizes were established in memory of the donor's father, George Edwin Lawrence, of the class of 1867. Three awards of $25, $15, and $10 went respectively to Leggett, Gordon, and Brown.

This is the second consecutive year in which both first places went to Leggett. Both seconds were awarded to Phillips Palmer '39 while Gordon and Edward J. Drew '40 were tied for the third Lawrence prize last year.

Touching the Bases
By MARTIN

Next Saturday the Panther trackmen wind up their dual meet season with the big meet of the year—the encounter with the University of Vermont. As things shape up now both teams have two duals under their belts, and compartive times point to a close meet.

Using last Saturday's figures and figuring to three places, which naturally cannot be done with any degree of accuracy, the tabulation would give the Catamounts 68 to Middlebury's 67—the score by which Vermont vanquished Colby last weekend.

Two of the biggest question marks in this mythical tabulation are the presence of Jackie Hicks on the Panther squad and Frankie Taylor with the Vermonters. Four-letter Frankie will probably be needed with the Cats' nine, and thus Coach Archie Post will lose his best shot putter and broad jumper.

Even with Hicks running the visitors should win both dashes with Gordie Smith hitting the top times of his career. His 9.9 and 22.6 of last Saturday look good enough to take Hicks, who has not run competitively for over a year. Rasmussen and Hanson should save the remaining points.

The middle distances again find Vermont looming as the victor with Roby in the 440 and Dave Stowell in the half. Hanson should force Roby and Dick Morehouse, who improved his time while losing last week, may force Stowell. The Cats should grab the thirds.

With the Webster twins only sophomores, Coach Post is set for quite some time in the mile and two mile. With all due respects to Captain Bobby Post—a great runner—it would seem that Charlie of the Websters has the edge on the game Panther leader. Stoddard of Vermont should romp to third. Fred Webster and Livak, cross country stars, have the edge on Mercure of Middlebury in the grind.

Vermont's first place superiority should come to an abrupt end with the hurdles despite the presence of Bud Allen on the Catamount team. Bill Wood should take Allen in the highs with Rasmussen also raking in points, while Rasmussen and Wood should both take the visitors' ace in lows.

With a jump of 5 feet 11 1-4 inches last Saturday Hunter of Vermont looks like an easy winner over Tabor and Lundrigan in the high jump. Dick Barclay should equalize in the pole vault, however, to take Pratt of Vermont with Johnny Trask in third spot. Jackie Bates has come along rapidly in the broad jump, and with Taylor probably unable to compete, he and Bill Bursaw should ring up eight points on the credit side of the ledger.

Bob Johnstone of Vermont looms as the only double winner in the weight events. We recall the big Catamount tossing the hammer and discus at Burlington last spring, and if he has gained the polish which he lacked then he will be hard to beat. The Panthers will be lucky to save a third in the hammer, but the discus crew of Davis, Poole, Ferren and Krauszer should grab second and third.

Incidentally—a word about young Mr. Poole. The 210 pound frosh came thru with a resounding crash last Saturday to win the discus throw against the powerful opposition supplied by Williams. Brad has plenty of raw power, and if he will listen to the words of good advice which he is being given concerning his form, we predict a brilliant future for the big lad.

Despite the absence of Taylor Vermont should have shot putter capable of taking a first in this meet. Poole should save a second and might come thru for five points while Myers or Vartuli, the latter a winner in the Vermont meet last year, should take third.

On his fourth and unofficial throw last Saturday Johnny Zydik tossed the javelin 176 feet. Johnny seems to have returned to form and with Al Profy should form a combination that has the edge on Nichols and Akley of Vermont. On the whole the meet looms as a nip and tuck battle with the second and third places deciding the final outcome.

Panther Trackmen Lose To Williams

Track Events Prove Weak As Cinder Squad Is Downed 91-44

Competing on a wet track last Saturday, the Williams track team defeated Middlebury by a score of 91-44. Rain threatened during the morning and the soggy condition of the Porter field track made all of the times poor. The Williams team amassed enough points in the running events to secure their top-heavy margin.

Sweeping the dash events with a win apiece, Schumo and Vietor came up to all expectations, the former taking the hundred in ten flat and the latter winning one of the fastest races of the afternoon by hanging up a time of 22.5 in the 220 dash. Rasmussen and Hanson furnished the only Middlebury places in the sprints, both placing third in the 100 and 220 respectively.

In fact, the Williams team allowed but one Middlebury man to take a place higher than third in all of the events from the dash to the two mile. Captain Post came in second to Gilman of Williams in the mile. A tie in the two mile gave a third place to Eddie Mercure.

In the middle distance events it was the same story. The only points for the Panther team were the result of Fred Butler's third in the quarter. The 880 showed a Williams man in all three places.

The one bright spot in the Middlebury performances was the hurdle events. Bill Woods took the highs in the very fine time of 15.8 with Bud Berry placing second, and Webb of Williams holding third spot. Art Rasmussen won the 220 lows followed by Webb of Williams and Bates taking a third.

A slightly better showing was made by the Panther team in the field events. Freshman Brad Poole won the discus throw with a distance of 115' 4". He was followed in second place by Hearne of Williams and Jim Ferren of Middlebury. Barclay provided the other Panther win by taking the pole vault with a height of 11' 3". Wilson of Williams took the second place and later made an unofficial jump of 12'. Trask followed in third position.

Bartlett of Williams won the high jump in 5'7 3-4". A tie between freshman Jack Lundrigan and Sunderland of the Purple team accounted for the remaining places. The Panther team managed to garner two spots in the broad jump with Bursaw and Bates taking second and third behind the winner, Patterson of Williams.

Sweeping the hammer event, the Purple squad took all three places to shut out the Middlebury weight tossers. Poole followed his discus win by a third in the shot put, following Hearne and Cramer of Williams. Profy and Zydik accounted for a second and third in the javelin throw behind Dunn of Williams.

GOLFERS BOW TO WILLIAMS, UNION

Lack of practice, due to a well-watered golf course at the Middlebury Country Club showed clearly in the scores of the meets with Union and Williams held last Wednesday and Thursday at those colleges. The final results were losses to Williams 9-0 and Union, 7½-1½

The Williams match, the first of the two game trip, proved disastrous to every member of the Panther golf squad. Don Chapman, Captain of this year's linkmen, lost to Anderson 2 and 1. Dixie Davis, second man, lost to Scriber of Williams with 6 and 5. Larry Mahar, Bill Engesser likewise bowed to the Purple's third and fourth man, and the best that Eddie Reichert could do against his man was 3 and 2. Duke Dieffendorf lost to number six man, 8 and 7.

At Union, the results were much the same. Don Chapman bowed to first man Brown, 4 and 3. Dixie Davis provided a little sunshine when he defeated Ford, second man, with 2 up. Mahar and Engesser were again losers. Engesser going out with 1 up. Eddie Reichert was taken at 9 and 8, and Diefendorf was likewise taken, 5 and 4.

At the Union meet, Captain Chapman managed to break 80, and at both meets, Dixie Davis was consistent wtih an 82.

Although rain fell at the Union course, and must have made the boys feel as if they were back on the home course, the green continually fooled them.

Intramurals

Sigma Phi Epsilon placed one of the hardest hitting soft-ball aggregations on the local diamond last Monday afternoon when it socked out a 24-8(approximately) win over the Beta Kappas.

Yesterday the game between the Kappa Delta Rhos and the team representing the Delta U's resulted in a victory for the KDR's. The score for the contest was 16-15 and the tying and winning run was hit in by Jamieson in the seventh inning.

All games in the softball league will be completed by next week, with other games being between Alpha Sigma Phi and Sigma Alpha, and Friday afternoon the Chi Psis facing the Dekes.

Last event of the intramural season will be the track meet which is scheduled to take place the week following Junior Week. Alpha Sigma Phi is the defending champion in this event, as they are in the softball contest.

Intramural tennis matches are to get underway May 13th, while the finals are scheduled for not later than the 23rd of the same month.

The individual golf tournament will be run off in the near future, and the drawings have already been placed on the gymnasium bulletin board.

Panther Nine Drops One To St. Lawrence, Conquers Clarkson

Last week the Middlebury Panthers wandered far from their lair in the Green Mountains to prey on the offerings of the St. Lawrence and Clarkson Tech baseball teams.

In the game against St. Lawrence, the Blue and White lost their third game of the season by a 8-3 score, but the contest was not without its good features. Most important of these was the pitching of Bill Desmond.

His first starting assignment found the sophomore more wild than he was against St. Michaels, for here he walked five men, allowed nine hits in seven innings, and three earned runs were scored against him. Nevertheless it was a nice job, and it might be that he will draw a starting assignment against the same team when they appear here today.

Against Clarkson the Middlebury team behaved much more to the liking of Coach Nash and his followers. Paul Liehr was on the mound for the entire distance, and Mahoney, Bertuzzi and Eakeley did some nice sticking to bring a 9-5 victory in this fifth game of the season.

In finishing this game Paul became the first Middlebury hurler to go the distance, and a good job he did of it, allowing but seven hits in the nine inning stretch. Sammy Bertuzzi drove the ball to all fields, collecting three solid doubles, and incidently pulling himself out of a very bad batting slump.

Scoring in the game didn't start until the third inning, but in this frame the Panthers went ahead 3-2, and increased their lead to two runs by pushing across three more tallies in the fourth while the Techmen scored but two. Both teams chalked up one more run to their credit in the fifth, but in the seventh and eighth Middlebury added one more run each time and won the game by a 9-5 count.

In addition to the fine work by Bertuzzi with the bat, Mahoney and Scott Eakeley belted out two hits apiece, the former increasing his B. A. from a scant .250 to a solid .333.

College Nine Loses To Vermont By 5-2 Score

Pesarik, Catamount Star, Serves Four-Hitter To Panthers

CONRAD'S PLAY IN 8TH HALTS RALLY

In their second Green Mountain Conference game, and their sixth encounter of the season, the Middlebury baseball team ran up against Lefty Pesarik, star hurler of the University of Vermont, who set them down with four hits, while his mates clipped Harry VanGaasbeck for eight base knocks.

Score of the game was 5-2 with the Panthers on the short end, but it was a well played game which showed a marked improvement in the fielding of the visiting club and a good job in the box by their veteran pitcher.

Both teams tallied in the first inning, Middlebury's score being decidedly unearned as the Vermont fielders turned in three errors. Pesarik was responsible for the three outs of the inning, striking out just that number of men. U. V. M.'s tally was also slightly tainted as lead-off man Spasyk reached first as a result of an error, and scored when Wood lined out a single.

Vermont won the ball game in the second inning when two more runs were added to her total. Two hits, an error, and a stolen base were the means by which U. V. M. made these scores, but they were enough to decide the issue.

The Catamounts scored again in the fourth, and it was not until the sixth that Middlebury managed to do so. Johnny Prukop reached first on Pesarik's first walk of the game, and went all the way home on Scott Eakeley's double.

A great play by Conrad saved Pesarik in the eighth when the Panthers threatened to score, and in the ninth a quick double play, Spasyk to Healy to Lawrence, wiped out another chance for the Blue and White to score. Vermont completed the scoring in the game by ringing up their fifth tally in the eighth.

Frankie Taylor was a thorn in the side of VanGaasbeck, collecting three for four, while Johnny Mahoney boosted his average with two singles in four times at bat.

Rain Cancels Meets with New Hampshire and Williams

Tomorrow the U. V. M. netmen will invade Middlebury to settle the question as to which team holds supremacy of the courts

The Middlebury men, despite several bad breaks in the form of rain and being unable to hit on a doubles combination that will click are believed to be steadily improving with practice and are all set to give the boys from upstate a hard match. Latham and Crawford will probably be the main doubles team since they seem to work well together, although they haven't been playing as a combination before this year.

On the following day the Panthers will again be challenged on their own ground by the St. Michaels men who do not intend to take a licking without putting up some stiff competition. And Saturday, the netmen will again be open to attack from the direction of Springfield college. This schedule indicates that three tough days are ahead for the team and if the weather is hot it will certainly be a stiff grind in which even the best man may crack.

In the match with Williams last Thursday, the team was behind but had begun a spurt that might have brought them victory if the match had not been rained out. The following day the boys were due to play Suffolk university in Boston, but it seems that the Suffolk boys were unable to find any courts to play on, consequently forfeited the match. The meet with the University of New Hampshire was to have been held on Saturday, but was called off on acount of rain.

Thus far the team has had difficulty in playing their matches, to say nothing of getting any practice in between times. The future is looked on more optimistically in the hope that a doubles combination will eventually start to click and thus add the necessary points that are needed to the singles matches. Anyway, matches this coming weekend are going to be well worth watching win, lose, or draw.

TRACK SQUAD TO ENCOUNTER U.V.M. HERE SATURDAY

The Panther track squad meets Vermont next Saturday at Porter Field. The Catamounts defeated the Colby track squad by a close score of 68-67 last week and managed a win over Union to give them a total of two victories for the season.

The results of the Colby meet are indicative of the strength of the Vermont team. Captain Gordie Smith seems to be the outstanding sprint man, winning the 100 in a time of 9.9 and the 220 in 22.6. Stowell ran a very fast half mile to win in a time of 2.03.5. The Webster brothers seem to be doing as well in the distance runs as they did last fall in cross-country. Charlie won the mile with brother Frank tieing for first in the two mile.

All around, it looks as though Vermont has a slight edge over Middlebury in the track events. The one exception is the hurdles, and this is where Rasmussen and Wood should be able to garner valuable points. The field events look like a Middlebury edge with the exception of the hammer and the shot.

It is expected that Johnny Hicks will be in shape to enter, for the first time this year. He will find plenty of competition in Gordie Smth of Vermont. Nate Abbott, stellar Catamount pole-vaulter, who took Barclay into camp last season, will be absent from the Vermont ranks next Saturday.

Joe Mangan who has been starting the races here for the past two week, was a one-time winner over Fenske and Cunningham.

KNIGHT CALLS FOR INTEREST IN MUSIC

There is no question as to the interest of the student body in the group and its work, but that interest is altogether too likely to remain inactive. What the Club needs more than anything else, is the enthusiastic support of the students, their parents, friends, and alumni. It really needs an occasional rally, just as is held before a football game, to buoy up its spirits before a concert.

The group itself provides a worthwhile extra-curricular interest for a large number of participants, and involves a tremendous amount of work. The Club has gained an excellent reputation everywhere it has performed for its work, and persons qualified to criticize such an organization and its work have always given nothing but the most glowing praise of the ability of its director.

The Middlebury Glee Club can have as wide and as good a reputation as the Yale Glee Club, for instance—but only can this be if the students want it. And—this is almost easier done than said. The arrangements for concerts can be made much more easily and effectively by a student, or alumnus than by the ineffective impersonal correspondence of the manager or director with someone in the town whom he does not know; and Middlebury people can publicize affairs much more effectively than people who have not the personal interest in the college.

It is sincerely requested that any student give suggestions to the manager or director of the Club as to possibilities for next year's concerts. These suggestions must have concrete backing in order for them to be at all effective. The interest and support are here! We know it and we should like to see it.

Chronicle of CAMPUS Up to Present Reviewed

men from 18 institutions engaged in football only 65 were disabled for a week or more.

As one looks over the old issues of Middlebury's student papers, six definite milestones can be noted in the evolution of the paper. The two steps that secured the financial soundness of the CAMPUS were the acceptance of the fact that advertising was a legitimate method of supporting a student paper and the placing of subscriptions on the term bills in 1918. Editorially, the CAMPUS was the victim of an appointing system until the fraternity interference had grown so bad that a competitive method was established in June, 1916.

In 1917, the administration allowed the Editor and Assistant Editor to receive full year credits for the work. This was probably the greatest boost that the prestige of the CAMPUS ever received. However, this scholastic bait was short lived. The more tangible reward of percentage salary was substituted within a few years.

The sixth milestone in the life of the CAMPUS is the reorganization that has recently taken place. With the establishment of a definite salary program for all of the members of the senior board and the revamping of the system of advancement the CAMPUS reaches another stage in its history.
